FEEDING BEES IN WINTER.

Sugar Syrup Recommended When Honey Store is Insufficient.

No one should attempt to winter a hive of bees which is poorly supplied with honey. Such a colony needs to be either fed or brimstoned. Only good, heavy colonies should be wintered. One can tell whether a hive has sufficient stores for winter by testing the weight. If the hive lifts like a box of bricks it has enough stores, but if it lifts easily, like an empty box, then it has insufficient honey to carry the bees through a severe winter, writes A. L. Latham in the Farmer.

It is not difficult to feed a colony for winter. Dissolve seven parts of granulated sugar in about four parts of hot water. Four the gallon of syrup resulting into four quart jars and invert these in shallow saucers, preferably shallow tins, like the covers of old pans. Place them just at dusk either over the frames of the hive or about the entrance. Insert small nails under the edges of the jars to allow air to enter as the syrup is licked up. If the night is cold throw two or three sacks over the jars to hold the heat and encourage the bees to carry the syrup into the hive. Stir the bees up before throwing the sacks over the jars. This feed can be given at any time till such cold weather sets in that the bees will not take care of it. The amount suggested is enough to take bees into early April.

All hives that have enough stores can be protected for winter in the following simple manner: Select as many large brown sacks as there are hives. Open the bottom of each sack so that the two ends are alike. Have ready dry leaves, laths, small nails and hammer. Draw a sack down over a hive as you would draw a stocking over your foot. Before starting in place a small block over the entrance to keep the bees in while the work is being done. Fasten the edge of the sack along the bottom of the hive with a piece of lath secured by two nails. Let the sack come quite to the bottom at the sides and the back of the hive, but in front turn it up so the entrance will be left unobstructed. Now push leaves in between hive and sack, filling first at each corner, so that sack be free from air on all sides. Pack the leaves firmly all round and above the hive till the sack is nearly full. Then with some long nails or with strings gather the upper edges of the sack so that the leaves will not spring out.

As the hive now is rain will wet the leaves and make the protection worse than useless. Some waterproof material must be laid over all. A piece of tar paper laid over and then covered with another sack is good. This upper sack should have its corners pinned down with wire nails.

It takes but half an hour to get a hive ready for winter in this manner, and the labor will be well paid for. Thus prepared the colonies will winter splendidly in even severe winters and will build up rapidly in the spring, furnish early swarms or supers of honey. This protection can be taken off in early May and made into a lean-fuel—the fuel of the very best sort to make clean white smoke.

Helping Him.

Sweeping Victory for Lewis.

He is Re-elected President of Mine Workers by 23,557 Majority.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22.—Thomas L. Lewis of Ohio was re-elected president of the United Mine Workers of America, over William Green of Ohio, his only opponent, by 23,557 majority. Frank J. Hayen of Illinois was elected vice-president by a majority of 23,227, to succeed E. S. McCullough of Michigan. Edwin Perry was chosen secretary without opposition.

ABOUT THE STATE

E. E. White and son of Ludlow crossed Ludlow mountain on snowshoes last week in two hours.

All the schools in Dorset closed Friday for the day for the teachers and necessary running expenses.

Walter Pulsifer had one foot badly crushed while unloading halfwood logs in Chittenden last Monday. A log fell onto it.

Henry Colcomb had a portion of three fingers on his left hand taken off by the planer while working in the Barre marble mill in Swanton last week.

H. A. Henderson's house in Quebec was destroyed by fire recently. Most of the contents of the house were saved. The premises were insured for $2,000.

On Saturday, January 15, while Daniel Paris and helper were loading lumber onto a car at Lyndon station, the helper accidentally hit Mr. Paris on the head with a board, causing a scalp wound of about two inches.

Mrs. Elmore Coe of West Burke had one hand quite badly injured last week. She threw into the stove what she supposed to be a wad of paper, but it was a dynamite cartridge, which exploded, injuring her hand.

A. P. Osborne, while working at his printing press in his office in North Tunbridge, got his hand caught beneath the press in such a way that, but for the splitting of a board, the hand would have been badly crushed. It is now doing well.

As little Hilda Giroux was standing in the street yesterday in East Highgate a traveler, loaded with small boys, came down a hill, running into her. Her face was severely cut and her legs badly bruised.

Tom Claren, while driving to his home in West Hartford one evening recently, mistook the railroad track at the crossing for the turn home and drove up the track as far as the bridge, when his horse stepped through and broke its leg. The horse had to be shot.

Thirty-one people were admitted to the town hall during the same length of time as was given to 53 persons not at the farm, with a total expense to the city of $4,132.90. Sixteen people were discharged from the farm in the year. The present number of inmates is 22.

Willie O'Neil, who is employed by M. H. Boardman in Morrisville, received a serious injury recently. He was assisting in rolling some logs, when his sawhook caught under a log, the handle striking him a terrific blow on the side of his head, near the temple. The force of the blow broke the skin and nearly rendered him unconscious.

Tuesday morning a large deer was killed by the morning train in front of C. M. Vial's in East Dorset. It is thought he weighed over 300 pounds. A short time ago, another deer was killed on the track near the crossing south of the village. Several deer have been seen recently in that vicinity, and a large bear was seen on the west mountain within a few days.

Dr. E. D. Ellis of Poultney has in his possession two apples, the like of which is seldom seen. They are petrified, being as hard as stone, and were taken out of an old well on a farm in South Granville, N. Y. The well is in an orchard, and overhanging it is an apple tree, from which it is believed the fruit dropped into the well. Recently the proprietor cleaned out the well and found the petrified fruit in a most excellent state. They appear to be of the greening variety.

William Smith died last week at the home of his son, A. J. Smith, in Granby. Mr. Smith was born in Sandford, Ireland, October 31, 1812, and was one of twelve children. He and his wife moved to Canada in 1830. They had twelve children, three of whom are living. Until the last few weeks of his life, Mr. Smith could walk as spry as any man of half his age. The past summer he helped about the haying. He was a great reader and kept himself posted on what was going on in the world. His wife died in Canada.

Roberts post, G. A. B., of Rutland has three members, W. C. Landon, commander, Milo Landon, vice commander, and H. G. Sheldon, junior vice commander, who were members of the first company in America to answer President Lincoln's call for volunteers. The company was Co. A, 1st Vermont regiment, and left Rutland May 2, 1861, going to New York and then to Fortress Monroe, Maryland. The company saw three months of active service and was mustered out August 15, 1861. All its members were re-enlisted when the 124th regiment was organized. Of the 22 who left Rutland with the first regiment, only seven or eight are now alive.

Heirs to Large Fortune.

George Benoit of Rutland has been notified that he is one of the beneficiaries mentioned in the will of his uncle, who is a small mine owner in Dorset, Ore. Mr. Benoit's father, who is a broom manufacturer in Malone, N. Y., with his six children, will be the heirs to the entire property upon the death of the owner, who has no family. Mr. Benoit, the uncle, ran away from home when a boy and got a start in the gold mining business. He now owns five of the mines and his income is about $250 a day. He is 67 years old and has been in poor health for some time. The children, who, with their father, are to inherit the estate, are George of Rutland, Henry of Holyoke, Mass., Adair of Springfield, Mass., who is a baseball player of considerable note and for two years was a member of the Burlington Northern league team, Frank of Fort Edward, N. Y., Samuel, in business with his father in Malone, N. Y., and Agnes, who is married and lives in Burlington.

Commissioners' Notice.

The undersigned, having been appointed by the Probate Court for the District of Washington, County of Adams, to examine and adjust the claims and demands of all persons claiming under the will of the late George A. Benoit, deceased, in said District, do hereby give notice that they will hold office at the residence of Irving H. ## AS OTHERS SEE US.

Our Coarseness Irritates His Man, and Our Roads Disgust Him.

America is certainly not flattered by Signor Scarriglio in his book entitled "Round the World in a Motor-car." As a motorist he finds traveling very unsatisfactory and informs his readers that in America the high-road is hardly known because the need of it does not exist. It is a country without a history and without a past. Without effort and still quite new. It has come into contact with nations which for ages and ages have traveled laboriously behind the sun.

The railway was already in existence when America became an organized nation, so there was no use for the high-road. The only means of communication which it has ever understood are the locomotive and the railway. Other systems were too ancient.

The Americans have constructed railways for all their needs and have allowed the old paths, trodden out by the herds of the first shepherds, to become covered with moss and ferns. No one uses them; no one knows them except three or four farmers who occasionally cross them to get to another place. Finally the paths disappear. Overgrown by grass, washed out by rain, softened by snow, they eventually become an inextricable mass of briars and brambles, like a primitive jungle. It is through this jungle that a motorist travels. The snow, melted by the rain which has fallen, has been turned into a treacherous slush in which the car sinks and the wheels revolve uselessly. Non-skid devices and the chains wrapped round tires are no good, and as one advances the road becomes worse.

Signor Scarriglio is not more complimentary with regard to the people of America. "I do not like the Americans as a whole," he admits, "just as I do not like the cheesemonger whom a prize in a lottery or a sudden rise in the price of potatoes has made wealthy. There is still too much of the herdsmen about them, and their clothes are still permeated by the smell of the soil. Riches alone do not justify everything. The uprightness of others is always irritating, but that of the Americans is particularly so, because it is paraded, thrown proudly in your face and shown about as the only true sign of greatness. For these reasons our souls are revolted by these people. Their coarseness irritates and wounds us. Our physical and intellectual habits are offended by contact with all this coarseness and their strange idea of progress—if progress consists in fast trains and pounding mud along the streets in a furious hurry."

Sport and Athletics in America. Sport and athletics in America are vastly different terms. Sport should be play, not work. Athletics as practiced in general are too strenuous, too spectacular and too exclusive. We are not an athletic nation. Far from it. We talk athletics, but there is too much grand stand and too little actual participation in games—Malcolm Kenneth Gordon in Century.

Poetic Justice. "Pa, did you ever hear of a real case of poetic justice?" "Yes, a man who once swindled me out of $500 in an irrigation scheme died of water on the brain."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Wind Velocity.

The majority of people are unable to determine the wind's velocity. When the smoke from a chimney moves in a straight, vertical column, it means that a one to two miles an hour breeze is blowing. A three miles an hour wind will just stir the leaves on the trees. Twenty-five miles an hour will sway the trunks; at forty the small branches will break; and it takes a mile a minute gale to snap the trunks of big trees.—London Answers.

A Wretched Mistake.

To endure the itching, painful distress of piles. There's no need to. Listen: "I suffered much from piles," writes Will A. Marsh of Silver City, N. C., "till I got a box of Buckle's Arnica Salve, and was soon cured. Burns, boils, cures, fever sores, eczema, cuts, chapped hands, chilblains, vanish before it. 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy."

DISCRIMINATING LADIES.

Major Using Herpichs on Account of Its Distinctiveness.

The ladies who have used Newberr's Herpichs speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp cool and fresh and it allows that itching which dandruff will cause. Newberr's Herpichs effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness. In killing it, Herpichs stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also a good hair dressing, for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. Send 50c. in stamp for sample to The Herpichs Co., Detroit, Mich.
